PROJECTS

Happy Mobile – Online Mobile Store Management System

- I developed a web application for a mobile store selling devices, accessories, and offering repair services through social media and physical outlets. My role included requirement gathering, front-end development for the Delivery Management System, and back-end database implementation using MongoDB, Express, React, and Node.js

Job Jet – Job Management System

- Developed a mobile application that connects job seekers with job openings and allows employers to post vacancies. My role involved gathering requirements, designing the front-end and back-end of the feedback module, and implementing the system using Kotlin, Firebase, and Android Studio. The app facilitates an efficient job application process and user-friendly job posting experience.
